Juliette Trek

Check out the Juliette Trek Challenge, this challenge is an easy way to keep you Juliette engaged with things that Girl Scouts has to offer though out the membership year and once your Juliette has accrued 100 points, let me know so she can get her patch! A check off sheet was mailed with your Fall Packet or you can download one from the Juliette resource page.

Juliette Gordon Low Corner

Juliette Gordon Low, who was nicknamed Daisy, was known as an animal lover, she had a pet parrot named Polly Poons and she also bought a rabbit because the its ears were cold. If your Juliette loves animals like Daisy did, you will find Badges that nurture this passion. Your Juliette can also do a community service project for her local animal shelter by using her Juliette Funds to purchase things the shelter needs. If you aren't sure how that works, email me at bridgetm@gsmw.org.

Girl Scout Traditions

The Girl Scout Promise and Law are an integral part of the Girl Scout Movement. It may have changed over the years but the message has remained the same. The Girl Scout Promise and Law provide a guideline for how we should act every day, not just at a Girl Scout program, camp or when earning a Badge or working on a project for Girl Scouts. In 1996, the Law was changed to what we currently use today. Here's how it has changed over the years.

Juliette Happenings

Reata, a Juliette in Billings and a member of our Media Girl team, attended her first Destination this summer. Reata travelled to Minnesota where she met up with 22 other girls from all of the United States. The trip started out with team bonding through a ropes course and a whitewater rafting trip. She then spent a day learning everything she needed to know for an eight day wilderness canoeing adventure. Reata reports that she learned a lot about herself, how to deal with challenges including an injury and made lifelong friends that has forever changed her. She knows she is strong and brave. She doesn't know where her next adventures lies but she hopes it involves ice cream and maybe not canoes! Even though Reata discovered that a wilderness canoeing adventure is not her favorite thing, she is thinking about what she can do next!
